Vanessa Rodriguez, P.E.

Senior Land Development Manager

ASHTON WOODS™

Vanessa Rodriguez is a University of Houston Alumni graduated with Civil Engineering & Environmental Sciences bachelor's degree in 2008. She started her career as an engineer in training at TCB, now known as AECOM. During those first 4 years of engineering, she primarily worked on public works and hydrology projects. She was then recruited to develop in residential home buildings. It turns out that she would really love the business of creating new subdivisions, utility districts, parks, and HOAs. She is a Senior Land Development Manager for Ashton Woods Homes. Houston's 11th largest home builder, and the country's largest private home builder.
